2. SSKL Start #87 (W 06) - 1:18

Between 1927 and 1933, the Mercedes-Benz Racing Cars made their debut at all the world's important racing competitions. They were the "victory monsters" of an impressive winning streak and were affectionately dubbed "white elephants". Famous racing drivers such as Hans Stuck, Carlos Zatuszek, Manfred von Brauchitsch and Bernd Rosemeyer played an important role in these overwhelming successes. But one man beat them all: Rudolf Caracciola, the titan at the steering wheel. Rudolf Caracciola competed in the Mille Miglia 1931, driving the No. 87 car - a SSKL that weighed about 125 kg less than the SSK. It drove the crowds wild after 1,635 km on the road. No Italian drivers could hold a candle to Rudolf Caracciola, who sensationally won this world-famous long distance race in a new record time. This detail model with moving parts such as engine hood, levers on the steering wheel, windscreen. The model is in a styrofoam packing with additional cardboard. Scale: 1:18. Manufacturer: CMC .
